About us

Tradusul is a language services company located in Portimão, Portugal, specialised in translation, interpreting and proofreading.

Founded in 2007 as the translation department of the CLCC - Language, Culture and Communication Centre, Tradusul has become a local reference point thanks to the quality of the services offered. The department flourished, and in 2018 it was launched as an independent company, still located within CLCC and benefitting from the use of their facilities.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- Accuracy of a highly trained team.
- Dedication to our craft and to your project.
- Transparency from quote to delivery of the project.

Why TRADUSul

Dedication

A job well done requires dedication and professionalism. That is why we only work with qualified professionals who love what they do.

Speed

Working exclusively with trained professionals gives us the advantage of completing our projects within excellent deadlines.

Teamwork

Our team works together to ensure that each project meets the quality criteria to which we commit.

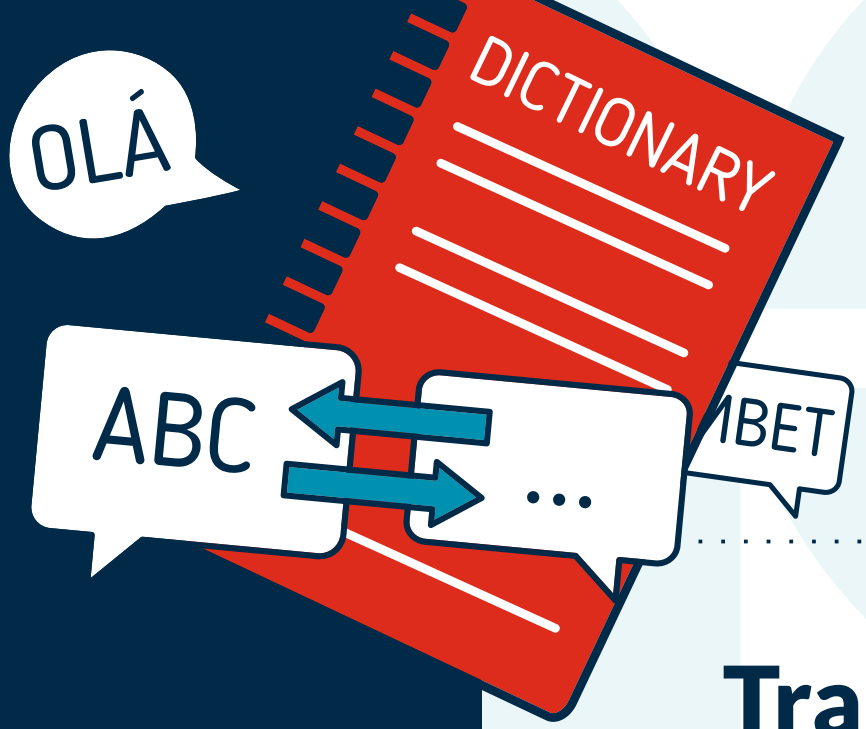
Why TRADUSul

Approach

All our projects are completed with objectivity, dedication and professionalism. We do not promise to translate into dozens of languages in a matter of minutes or have a categorization system (standard, premium, etc.). The client will always pay for a complete, high quality project.

Team

Our team is composed of trained translators and linguists with experience in a wide range of technical areas.



Services

Translation

Translation is a sensitive process that requires not only a technical and cultural knowledge of the languages involved in the translation process, but also a relevant knowledge in the area covered by the source document.

Working with these characteristics is as important to us as it is to you, because we share the desire to get your message across.

Our translation services include the following: certified translations of official documents, technical and legal translations, websites and social media content translation and translations of scientific papers, and much more.
We guarantee a quality job provided with a professional service.

Interpreting

Whether it is an international working meeting or a bureaucratic matter between different countries, our services allow you to open the doors of multilingual communication and shorten the language barriers.
Some examples of our services: marriages, divorces, deeds, civil/criminal court cases and others.

Our interpreters have experience in several fields such as: Law, the Property Market, Education and Medicine.

The Service

With native speakers from several countries, you can expect an efficient and friendly service from our interpreters.
The Interpreting service consists of the oral translation of the dialogue with the translation then being communicated to the second party.

How it works

After the service has been agreed, the interpreter will meet the client at the designated time and place. Afterwards, we will contact the client for feedback and the billing process.

Proofreading and Programming

Proofreading

Our proofreading service consists of a process of analysis, correction, and improvement of previously written or translated texts. We can guarantee that your text will be presented clearly and with impact and style.

Programming

Computer programming is also a language in which we are fluent.

We work with a highly skilled team that can build a website or update it according to the newest standards or translate it directly from the source code.

Quotes

Quotes are always free of charge and are not binding in any way.

How are quotes calculated?

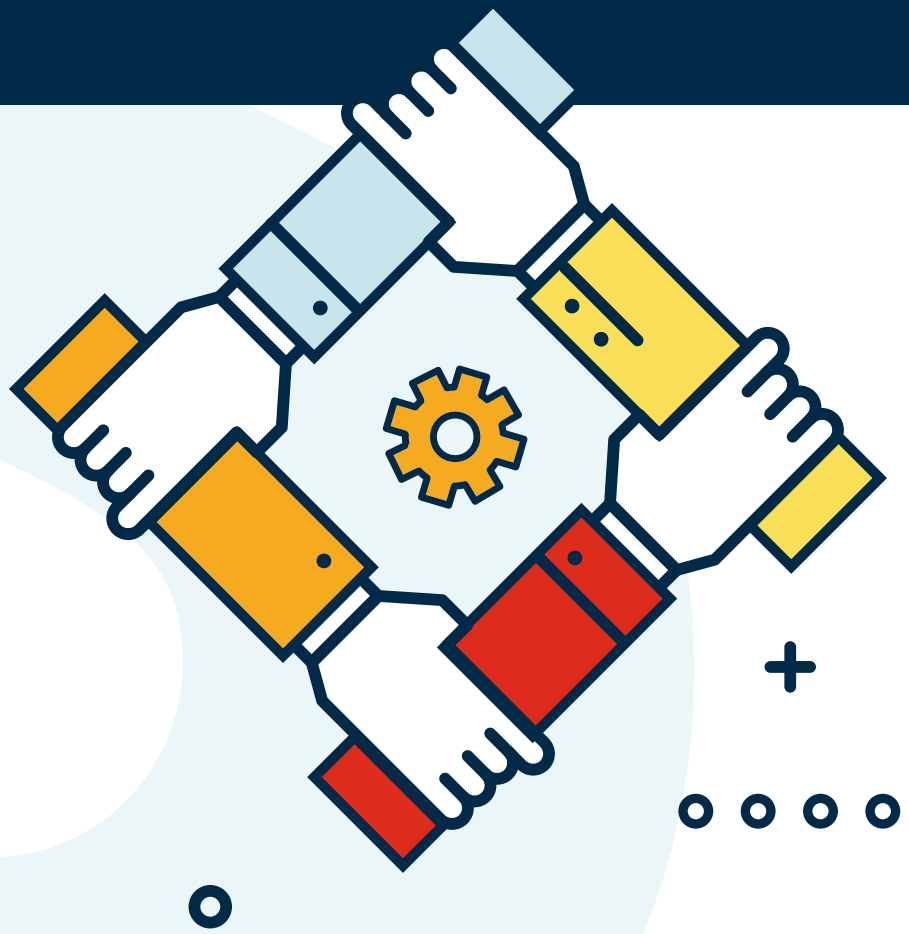
For translations, several factors are considered to calculate the quote of a project: total number of words, lexical area, original formatting, deadline, readability, source (original) and target (translation) languages and other specifications of the project.

Quotes are always free of charge and are not binding in any way.

For other projects, including interpreting proofreading and programming, quotes are calculated depending on the number of words (proofreading) or hours needed for the completion of the project (interpreting). For programming, an analysis of the project and its dimensions is required in order to calculate a quote.

The best way is to leave the numbers and letters to us!

What can you expect from TRADUSul 's services?



You can expect a friendly service, a quick response and transparency throughout the entire process.

The company was founded based on the idea that a job well done requires professionalism and dedication. And we believe that this is the only way we can assure a proficient, an effective and, most of all, a reliable service. That is why we work exclusively with qualified professionals who love what they do.
